

2011

At the London Hand and Wrist Unit we look forward to some exciting new developments in the department this year.. We are approaching new challenges with great enthusiasm and continue to provide expertise and high quality care for patients with upper limb problems.

LHWU Education

Currently in the department we are undertaking a series of in-services looking into pathophysiology and management of burns to the hand. We have speakers coming in and talking to us about managing wounds after a burn injury, pressure garments for scar tissue compression, and we are looking into current research on splinting and exercise for the burned hand.

Staffing

We would like to welcome Jocasta Lilleyman back to the London Hand and Wrist Unit. Jocasta is an Occupational Therapist and Senior Hand Therapist, who has returned to work with us after spending one year in the Hand Therapy Department at The Royal Free Hospital
